Thank You for Easter!

In the Moravian Church, we often believe that the way our particular church conducts services is the standard Moravian way. For most of us, especially if we don't change congregations, our understanding of what is considered the "Moravian way" remains largely unchanged. Ministers, however, experience a variety of "Moravian ways" as they move between churches. While there isn't a wide variance, details often differ. This becomes particularly interesting during the first Lent and Easter at a new church.

Easter of 2017 marked my first at Macedonia, and Easter of 2024 was my last there. I spent eight years acclimating to that church's particular "Moravian way." Even during COVID, when adjustments were necessary, there remained a focus on a particular approach. King has maintained its traditions similarly. You have done things the same way for some time. So, when I arrive with my own understanding and you have your established methods, it can make for a somewhat awkward first Lent and Easter season together.

I didn't know exactly what I was expecting; my main hope was simply not to make any mistakes. This past Lent and Easter season has been incredibly special to me. The church extended nothing but grace during this unique time, and I hope that, despite any awkwardness of having a new minister with a different perspective, Lent, Holy Week, and Easter were special for you as well.

To everyone who helped with our Palm Sunday and Holy Week celebrations—whether by serving as a diener, singing in the choir, managing the sound/live stream, assisting with readings, preparing the cross for the walk, or contributing to Easter Sunday by preparing the sunrise service, bringing food for breakfast, or participating in the 11 a.m. service—thank you so much. Your efforts made the season truly special.

Zach
